

Study-Unit Types for Undergraduate and Postgraduate Courses

The study-unit type indicates the method of teaching of the unit. Each study-unit may consist of one or a combination of the unit types mentioned below.

Study-unit Type	Description
Accreditation of Prior Learning	Used for work done prior to admission to a course.
Blended Learning	Blended learning is learning which combines online and face-to-face approaches
Clinical Observation
Clinical Placements
Clinical Practice
Coaching Sessions
Composition
Computer Lab Sessions
Demonstrations
Design Workshop
Directed Study
Discussion
Dissection
Dissertation
Exhibition
Experimental Sessions
Fieldwork
Flight Training Sessions
Group Learning
Group Teaching
Independent Online Learning
Independent Study
Laboratory Sessions
Lecture
Long Essay
Moot Court
Observations
Online Learning
Online Lecture
Online Tutorial
Performance
Phantom Head Sessions
Placement	Period of work in a teaching, clinical, industrial or other setting.
Practical
Practicum
Presentation
Project
Research Seminar
School Visit
Seminar
Simulation
Studio Practice
Studio Sessions

Study-unit Type	Description
Synoptic Study-Unit
Taught with hands-on application
Thesis
Tutorial	A period of instruction given by a tutor aimed at exploring in greater depth, revising and discussing material and topics presented within a unit.
Video Presentation
Visit
Ward Rounds
Webinar
Workshop

Apr2022_FR_Ver4